

Our experienced Insurance Litigation Team specialises in all areas of insurance litigation ranging from small value claims right up to £multi-million cases. The team acts for major European and UK insurers and brokers as well as businesses and individuals.

We have a proven track record of handling all types of claims from initial liability enquiries, small and County Court claims through to High Court and contested cases in the Court of Appeal and Supreme Court.

We have advised on claims arising from various types of accidents, including those supported by motor and household insurance policies, holiday and travel insurance, as well as cases where a source of funding is not available to defend claims.

We can help with:

- All areas of insurance litigation including defending personal injury and other liability claims
- Helping businesses control the cost of business insurance
- Higher value claims that require legal action
- First party disputes concerning insurance / indemnity cover issues
- Dealing with complaints before the Financial Ombudsman Service

We pride ourselves on offering a responsive and cost effective business support service. We have a practical, hands-on approach, which is focused on providing a satisfactory solution at the earliest possible opportunity. The Insurance Litigation Team forms part of and draws additional support from the wider Litigation Services Group at Trethowans which comprises approximately 30 lawyers plus support staff.

Recommended in Chambers

Kelvin Farmaner, a partner and head of the team is recommended in Chambers, the independent guide to the legal profession, who comment: Kelvin Farmaner "is praised by interviewees for his "down-to-earth, straightforward and practical" approach, as well as his "dogged determination" to achieve results for clients. He represented Cornish Mutual Assurance in a case where the claimant is alleged to have suffered injuries after being trampled by cows on a public footpath in a farm field."
